

Family Sociodrama

A three-day Workshop in Christchurch with Walter Logeman

Thursday 14 Friday 15 and Saturday 16 August, 2025

Together, we create a sociodramatic family. It is not the family system of any one person in the group. As we enact the relationships in this family unconscious dynamics come to life—patterns we didn't even know we had. We feel them fully from many perspectives. Then, stepping out, something shifts, we see ourselves more clearly. This family, alive in the workshop, becomes a mirror of the group and our lives.

With awareness, we can step back in—as healers. We practice the healing arts together.

I could have called this workshop many things—Healing Family Systems, Developing the Healing Arts, Learning to Give and Receive Care. At a basic level it is a Family Sociodrama and we'll see what we make of that.

This workshop is for you to heal something in your family, or in a significant relationship, now or in your family of origin.

If you work with people's health you can build on the work you already do and gain confidence and competence working with individuals or couples. This group expands the focus of Working with Couples professional development groups I conduct. This is now an open event for people to develop their capacities.
